

JOHN GALLAGHER

Hoffmann & Baron, LLP

John Gallagher is a partner in Hoffmann & Baron, LLP's Syosset office. Gallagher's practice focuses on representing corporations, small entities, start-ups and individuals in patent infringement, antitrust, trade secret, and unfair competition disputes.

With over 30 years of experience, Gallagher routinely serves as lead trial counsel in intellectual property disputes in federal district courts throughout the United States, before the U.S. International Trade Commission in Section 337 actions, and in post grant review proceedings before the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office. He has also been lead appellate counsel in matters before the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit. In addition, Gallagher frequently advises clients on the strategic use, acquisition and sale of intellectual property assets, licensing programs, and freedom to operate and due diligence issues.

Gallagher's litigation and counseling experience spans a wide range of technologies, including medical devices, consumer products, prescription drugs and over-the-counter products, antibiotics, vaccines, dietary supplements and nutraceuticals, fuel cells, polymer chemistry, printing products and processes, catalysts, fungicides, semiconductors and software systems.

The beginning of each year is an opportune time for clients to review their existing intellectual property portfolio, e.g., patents, trademarks, copyrights and trade secrets, to ensure their current and contemplated product offerings, business goals and market plans are adequately protected, Gallagher said.

WHO'S WHO

in

Intellectual Property Law

"A thorough review will assist in the development of a robust and multifaceted intellectual property portfolio to safeguard a client's market position notwithstanding the threat of competitive goods and services and the evolution of the market," he noted.

Gallagher is admitted to practice in the states of New York and Connecticut, as well as before the U.S. District Court for the Southern and Eastern Districts of New York, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, and the U.S. Supreme Court. He is also registered to practice before the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office.

Gallagher earned a juris doctor from St. John's University School of Law and a bachelor's degree in chemical engineering from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

Hoffmann & Baron, LLP is a leading international full-service intellectual property law firm that specializes in prosecution, counseling, licensing, and litigation of patent, trademark, and copyright-related issues. For more than 35 years, Hoffmann & Baron has been a leader in partnering with clients to develop innovative strategies tailored to each clients' unique business situation and goals.

With offices in New York and New Jersey, Hoffmann & Baron serves clients throughout the United States and around the globe in all scientific and engineering fields.

The firm is especially experienced in acquiring and enforcing patent protection; establishing and enforcing trademark, brand, and trade dress protection; trade secrets and copyrights. The firm also has a robust Post-Grant Review practice relating to the validity of issued patents. Hoffmann & Baron also provides counseling regarding a variety of other legal issues associated with technology development, such as licensing and technology transfer.

Hoffmann & Baron is active in the Long Island community, and has a long history of supporting the innovators at Long Island's companies and research institutions.